Mathäus is a member of our Dispute Resolution Group. He has broad expertise in the area of dispute resolution. He represents clients in contract and corporate as well as in competition and insolvency law disputes before the German and European courts. He has significant experience in the worldwide strategic defense against coordinated lawsuits and class actions.

Mathäus is also an experienced party representative in arbitration proceedings. He regularly represents clients in cross-border disputes before arbitral tribunals in Germany and abroad. A particular focus of his work lies on post-M&A disputes. His clients include commercial, industrial and technology companies from Germany and abroad.

JUVE lists Mathäus as an often-recommended attorney for dispute resolution. WirtschaftsWoche names him as highly regarded in the area of arbitration, Handelsblatt as one of the best lawyers for arbitration and dispute resolution. Competitors describe him as “impressively experienced” (Juve Handbook 2024/2025).

Mathäus also regularly acts as an arbitrator. He is an elected member of the German delegation at the ICC Commission on Arbitration and ADR.
