

Johannes Adolff

Partner

Frankfurt am Main

T +49 69 17095 299

johannes.adolff

@hengeler.com

Johannes advises finance industry clients in corporate matters and M&A transactions. He also advises on regulatory issues, in particular relating to the crisis management of banks.

Recently, he advised Deutsche Beteiligungs AG on a strategic partnership with ELF Capital Group and the expansion of its range of flexible financing solutions (2023), Interritus Limited and Attestor Capital LLP on the sale of their entire shares in Satere Beteiligungsverwaltungs GmbH, the holding company of Kommunalkredit Austria AG (2023) as well as Münchener Hypothekbank eG on the acquisition of M.M. Warburg & Co. Hypothekbank Aktiengesellschaft (2022). Before, he had advised FMS-WM on the sale of the Irish DEPFA Bank (2021) and Aareal Bank on the sale of a minority stake in its subsidiary, software provider Aareon (2020). Furthermore, he had advised Aareal Bank on the acquisition of Düsseldorfer Hypothekbank, Dexia Crédit Local on the sale of Dexia Kommunalbank Deutschland (2018) and BAWAG Group AG on its IPO in Vienna (2017).

During the financial crisis and its aftermath, Johannes acted for Hypo Real Estate and WestLB with regards to the establishment of their respective Bad Banks (2009/2010), followed by WestLB's comprehensive restructuring in which he was closely involved between 2010 and 2012.

Johannes was the M&A counsel on numerous portfolio transactions advising sellers as well buyers, including: Shinsei, Citi, Morgan Stanley, Goldman Sachs, Deutsche Bank, NordLB, WestLB, Hypovereinsbank and Hypo Real Estate.

Johannes teaches law at the Goethe University of Frankfurt.

Career

Admitted to bar 1997

University of Munich (Dr. iur.)

Trinity College, University of Cambridge (LL.M.)

Assistant Professor (Habilitation) at University of Munich, 1999-2003